

Minebea Co., Ltd.

Abstract

The invention relates to a coil arrangement with variable inductance having two separate toroid coils which carry working windings, and a control winding encompassing the two wound toroid coils for the purpose of pre-magnetizing the core material of the toroid coils.